

KNOCKOUT Games

Earn extra points by taking other players out.

Knockout games will be a regular part of our Sundays are "Fun" days series.

- Each player begins with a Knockout (KO) chip added to their normal stack. KO chips have no table value, but represent one standings point.
- If you go all-in, you include one KO chip from your stack into the pot (any other KO chips you have won remain behind).
- If you knock someone out, you get their KO chip in the pot, and add it to your existing KO chip(s).
- If you are all-in and lose, they get your KO chip in the pot (you keep any additional KO chips you have won, and add them when signing out).

Multiple (side pot) situations

- Each all-in player puts a single KO chip into the pot (main or side) that puts them "all-in."
- Any "split" pots that contain a single KO chip - additional KO chips are retrieved from the bag and every winning player gets a chip.
